Dear Great Grandpa,

I hope everything is well with you and Great Grandma and that you both had a great day today. I have a school project to do and decided to write to you about being a veteran, because Grandma Jo was telling me recently that you were in the Korean War. I am so interested and eager to hear some of your stories from that time in your life. I thought of you when we were talking about veterans in my social studies class.

Young people today usually think of Veteran's Day as just a day off from school. But what they don't realize is that veterans have fought for our freedom and many have died for it too. On Veteran's Day, I always like to take a second to think about you and all the veterans who did fight for my freedom. As much as I would want to help and love America I don't think I could ever be as strong as you.

I would love to sit down with you and hear about all of the amazing stories you have. Veterans are so strong and brave to go join the military and serve our country. They risk their lives for America like you did and I don't know how to thank you enough for serving our country. You and all veterans are the bravest people on Earth you have done so much. Thank you for your service and I can't wait to see you very soon.

With love and admiration

Your great-granddaughter, Aly

When I decided to write a thank you letter to my Great grandfather I was very excited. I felt really happy and honored to be able to thank someone in my family for their services. Our country could use some more brave men like my Great Grandfather. I really am thankful for our Freedom.
