

Sayville High School's November Accolades

Sayville Public School employees have donated over $50,000 via voluntary payroll deductions in the last three years to the Friends of Sayville Education Foundation. These monies have been utilized to provide opportunities for over 300 students grades K-12.

1. Art Department

Sayville High School had eight seniors show their work at the South Bay Art Association Annual Senior Show. The show consisted of 210 artworks, 69 Seniors from Long Island High Schools and only 20 awards were given. Sayville took home five out of the twenty awards (four in the amount of $100 and one from Brookhaven Laboratory for $300 on Friday night.)

Jake Aquilina

Shannon Bohman (award winner X2)

Autumn Bradley (award winner X2)

Ryan Fargione

Tara Litvin

(award winner)

Erin MacDevitt

Samantha Stokes

Alexa Truglio

We are extremely proud!

1. Guidance Department

Our Guidance department will be hosting a PSAT information night on Monday, December 15th at 7p.m. in our Auditorium.

2. LOTE Department

We are happy to say that 25 students have availed themselves to possibly receiving 3 college credits for Spanish 5 Honors, which is equivalent to a 200 level university course, through the LIU H.S. Scholars Program.

3. Math Department

On the math portion of the SAT, more than 10 Sayville seniors scored above a 700. This ranks these students in the top 93 percentile of all students taking the test across the country. Congratulations!

4. Music Department

Liam Harrison has been playing the trombone for the past eight years. So what? you say. A lot of students have? Yeah, but how many people can say that they were selected to the 16 member All National Jazz Band? Liam can! Not only was he one of 16 in the whole country to be selected to this honor ensemble, he was the only New Yorker to be in the entire group!

Liam had to submit a video taped audition. The tapes were viewed, and only 4 trombonists were chosen. We are so proud of Liam and all of his accomplishments, but this one is extra special. There has only been one other student in Sayville to be chosen for an All National ensemble!

Congratulations Liam! And best of luck on those college auditions!!!!

5. Physical Education Department

This fall all of our varsity teams participated in post season play. In addition, several of our varsity programs were recognized as scholar athlete teams.

6. Science Department

Bill Vogel generously volunteered his time to speak to the Marine Science classes about his SCUBA diving experiences. He is an avid diver with a lot of expertise on the subject. He has done this several times in past years and Linda has written about it, so she should have all the particulars on his presentation.

7. Social Studies Department

This year's Senior Class had 4 students who received the Behavioral Sciences Designation. These students pursued a sequence that included AP Psychology, AP Statistics and 2 of the following courses: Abnormal Psychology, Psychology and Sociology.

Mr. Aronsen's Global 10 classes decked the social studies hall with red, white and blue bunting and propaganda posters to commemorate the 100th anniversary of WWI.

8. Technology/Business Departments

Learning About Running A Successful Business from Successful Alumni Brothers

Returning to their Alma Mater for a panel discussion, Sayville graduates Brendan Barrett (Owner, Sayville-Smithtown Running Company) and his brother Casey Barrett (Sales Representative, Mizuno Corporation) spent some time talking shop with students in the Sayville High School Business Department. For full story, photos, and video, go to:

<http://www.sayvilleschools.org/district.cfm?subpage=41240>